INTRODUCTION

The 1962 Yonahian has been brought into being with the expectancy that in future years it will serve to recreate for us this period of our lives which has been filled with the seemingly innumerable trials, triumphs and joys of collegiate life.

It is our hope that with the fulfilling of this purpose, this Yonahian will become and remain throughout the years one of our most treasured possessions.

To you who take the deepest interest in all things about you;

To you who have shown tirelessness and patience always;

*To you who give of your own time with unselfishness
and without complaint;*

With appreciation for your constant smile;

With gratitude for your understanding and friendship;

With admiration for your willingness to help, and more than help.

To you, Miss Griggs, we give our thanks for all that you have meant to each of us, and we dedicate the memories of this year as portrayed in the 1962 YONAHIAN.

EDITOR'S NOTE

This is your 1962 YONAHIAN. On the pages of this book are found familiar scenes and faces around Piedmont College. The feelings and attitudes which identify Piedmont evolve from these same pages.

The Staff, with these factors as a basis for the construction of this yearbook, has striven to produce a constant reminder of the activities and spirit which have been a part of Piedmont College in 1961-1962.

The greatest benefit that can be derived from a yearbook is not in the pleasure it brings now, but in the memories it will serve to evoke in future years. This annual is not devoted to the past, but rather to today. The students make it what it is, the lessons learned outside of classes, and the changing age in which they find themselves are of utmost importance. If this thought is accomplished, the annual will have served its purpose.

I would like to express my sincere appreciation for the hard work and co-operation afforded me by the Staff.

Estella Searing,
Editor

THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

"Be ye perfect even as your Father in heaven is perfect," is one of the thrilling statements which has come to us down the ages from the Master teacher of all times. My simple reflection on this eternal truth comes out of thirteen years of welcoming freshmen at Piedmont College, giving diplomas to graduating seniors, working with professors and trustees, calling on alumni, and counselling with men and women across the nation who believe in our program of church related higher education enough to share generously of their tithes and benevolences with us.

Since all of us are acquainted personally with the frailty of human flesh, the thought of achieving perfection seems discouraging at times. Yet the ultimate objective of our liberal arts program is the pursuit of excellence. We are unashamed of our God given urge to reach toward the sublime, and to press forward with all possible speed toward the enrichment of life. We are never content with less than our best effort, "the old college try." Moreover, a freshman's best performance of a Beethoven sonata will not satisfy his sense of art or craftsmanship in his sophomore year, nor will his second year accomplishments satisfy him in his junior year. Our quest for excellence is pursued steadily at our best, and in spurts at other times.

It is tremendously inspiring to think about all the people who desire to give their best to help young people to do their best. Parents, high school teachers, and religious leaders at home are ever eager to co-operate with professors, chaplain, and the dean at college in opening the splendors of education for every student pilgrim on the highway of pursuing the more excellent way.

It is equally thrilling to remember freshmen who never were ashamed of the simple religious faith they brought to college from home, and yet they "grew in wisdom, stature, and in favor with God and man" as they studied for four years in biology, sociology, business, and religion.

It is gratifying to remember that Piedmont College in a distinct way continues to help young people help themselves with scholarship and work-aid programs. Every qualified person continues to have their God-given heritage of self-development honored and accepted in our midst. There are many areas in our world where this level of "perfection" has not been attained.

Your alma mater is understandably proud of her many sons and daughters who have made good in life long pursuits of excellence. Businessmen, elementary-secondary and college teachers, doctors, lawyers, ministers, missionaries, legislators in Washington and Atlanta, housewives, and all of our former students and graduates who press on daily toward the Abundant Life, fulfill our quest of excellence.

By the grace of the Eternal One who is the Giver of every good and perfect gift, our desire at college is to inspire and implement the quest of being perfect, "even as our Father in heaven is perfect."

SENIORS

With degrees in hand, the graduates of Piedmont College face a world of opportunities. Many of the graduates will leave a permanent mark in the fields of education, business, government, research, sociology, or will be renowned for their contributions to society as they continue to illustrate the value of higher education at institutions such as Piedmont College.

The graduates of 1962 have experienced great growth with their college. The completion of Wallace Hall, King Science Hall, the enthusiasm of the societies, and the expansion of the curriculum all have taken place during the college life of this year's graduates. Those who have shared a part in this important phase of the life of Piedmont College deserve to be honored now.

Outstanding character traits, leadership ability, scholarship achievements, promise of future attainment are traits of the six seniors of Piedmont College who were elected Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities. The nominees were submitted to the academic council by the student-faculty committee for approval. The final decision was made by Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities.

Those who received this honor have been rewarded a certificate of recognition, a write-up in the annual publication 1961-62.

WHO

These students constitute the best of students. Their college records have shown qualities which should prove invaluable in their respective careers and future associations.

These students are Hollis Benfield, from Cornelia, Georgia, whose major is English; Betty Hill, from Clarksville, Georgia, whose major is sociology; Bobby Johnson, Tucker, Georgia, whose majors are History and Physical Education; Robert Reynolds, from Toccoa, Georgia, whose major is English; Gayle Smith, Jacksonville, Florida, whose major is History, and Hollis Tanksley, Demorest, Georgia, whose major is Sociology.

FIELD DAY 1961

Miss Yonahian

Miss Shirley Segars of Carnesville, Ga., was crowned Miss Yonahian 1962 at the annual Dance in December.

Miss Segars was escorted by Mr. George Gibson. Elected by her fellow students, Miss Yonahian is the highest non-academic recognition at Piedmont. She will be the reigning queen of the 1962 yearbook and the representative of the students of Piedmont College. Miss Segars was crowned by Miss Billie Boling, Miss Yonahian 1961.

The members of her court were Miss Sandra Bramlett of Demorest, Georgia, and Miss June Bottcher of Worcester, Massachusetts.

THE STUDENT ASSOCIATION

As a direct and representative organ of student opinion and interest, the Student Association can only function with the complete support of its members. The officers spearhead the organization's concern with effective student government through the various committees, with student social life in the annual dances and other campus entertainment, and with athletic competition in the inter-collegiate basketball and baseball programs. We appreciate the cooperation of the students, faculty and administration, making this past year's Association the success it was and extend our good wishes for the future.

COLLEGE CHOIR

The college choral program is designed with three aims. First is training. Students with no previous training learn to carry a part, then to help weaker members, and eventually to go out as valuable members of church choirs in their home communities. Secondly, the choir provides leadership in chapel and vesper services. Soloists and small ensembles receive additional experience through this medium of expression. Third, publicity. The student with ability and a willingness to serve finds many opportunities in a small school such as ours.

The choir toured Florida and visited several churches affiliated with Piedmont College. This is one of the best publicities Piedmont College could ever want.

THE GAMMA CHI SOCIETY

MAKE THE MOST OF THE DAY

The Gamma Chi Society began its activities before school opened for the fall quarter. Prior to the fall registration, the members wrote letters of welcome to all girls planning to enter Piedmont for the first time. During the first week of school, the Gamma Chi's joined with their brothers, the Protropians, in welcoming and honoring the new students with a tea and cookout.

The organization has stressed its aims by presenting a program at every meeting. One major money-making project a pizza supper was successfully completed. The proceeds have been used for the society's projects.

THE PROTROPICAN SOCIETY

Under the leadership of Johnny Merritt, the Protrobian Men's Society completed another successful year. With new members from the freshman class and transferring upperclassmen, the society carried on its tradition of service and camaraderie established in its long history at Piedmont. Their sister society, the Gamma Chi's, have joined in events adding substantially to the social life of the campus. Members of the society have been active in the Drama Club, the Owl, the Yonahian, the Student Association, FTA, SCA, and Choir. It is the hope of the Protropians that an increasing interest in campus activities will be maintained at Piedmont and that the building of our college through fellowship will remain a major goal in the mind of each new member of the society.

THE THETA ZETA PHI SOCIETY

The year 1961-62 has been a successful one for the Theta Zeta Phi Society. They began with a get acquainted party for the new girls on campus at the home of the Theta Zeta Phi's sponsor for 1960-1961, Mrs. Mildred Davis. This year's sponsor is Mrs. Ronald Weitman. The foundations of our club are love, idealism and friendship. We look forward to even more successful years in the future filled with happiness and fun for all.

THE J. S. GREEN SOCIETY

This year proved to be very prosperous for the J. S. Green Society. This includes the defeat of the Protropians in the annual basketball game by a score which we will not embarrass them by printing.

The Greens' insured future success and supremacy by receiving one of the finest groups ever initiated in the society. A factor in this acquisition was a large party given in the early weeks of school. The society sponsored several socials and co-sponsored with their sisters, the Theta Zeta's, the Miss Yonahian Dance. The goal is to continue service to Piedmont College for the good of the college and its students.

THE PIEDMONT PLAYERS

The Piedmont Players appeared on campus again this year under the sponsorship of Miss Elsie Davis. The club will present "What Men Live By" at graduation.

Although the club has not reached a full scale this year it has planned more activities for the oncoming year.

Delta Psi Omega has been introduced to the club with Estella Searing, president, Judy Hassell, Mary Whitmore as members which is quite an honor.

COLLEGE HYMN

Hail to Alma Mater,
We will sing thy praise forever;
All thy sons and daughters,
Pledge thee victory and honor.
Alma Mater, praise be thine
May thy name forever shine;
Hail to green and hail to gold
Hail to thee, dear Piedmont.
